COUNCIL DISPOSES OF ROUTINE BUSINESS AT REGULAR MEETING

New Member of Board of Health Approved, But Ordinance Delayed

COMPLAINT FROM FIRE DEPT.

A regular meeting of borough council was held Tuesday evening, with all members present. Mr. Ulen, who lives at Third street and Shady avenue, was brought before the council with a complaint concerning some people who were dumping garbage on the rear of his property. He also asked council to grade Luella avenue at Third street in order to conform to the grade of the latter. The borough clerk was directed to prepare a release of damage petition to be circulated for signers, in order to release the borough from any damages that might result from this grading.

Walter Piles was present and asked permission of council to mine coal under an unnamed alley between Fifth street and the reservoir, along the property of the borough. The matter was referred to the account and claims committee to take up the matter with the borough solicitor, to prepare the necessary papers.

Mr. Newton made a report that the public seemed to be anxious concerning the opening of the test rooms at night, and he suggested that the demand be complied with under restrictions. It was directed that as soon as these restrictions were prepared to reopen the rooms as usual.

A proposition from J. D. Berryman with reference to an assessment for sidewalk on Third street was presented through his attorney, Guy Moffitt. The matter was referred to the account and claims committee, and the borough solicitor to draw up the necessary papers.

A communication was received from the Board of Health asking approval of the appointment of David Glunt as a member of the board, and also a request for an appropriation of $2,500 for the board also asked for the passage of an ordinance which would regulate the housing conditions in the borough. The appointment of Glunt was approved.

The board of health also reported for the month of January that the total of $2,500 for the board was received. The board also reported for the month of January that the total of $2,500 for the board was received.

Important Educational Conference at Monongahela

A conference preparatory to sweeping changes in the curriculum of all the high schools in this district will be held in the Monongahela High school auditorium, Thursday evening, February 10th.

Dr. W. D. Lewis, deputy state superintendent, will come to this district at the invitation of Prof. R. G. Dean of Monongahela, and address the assembly, which will be composed of supervising principals, high school principals and high school teachers on a change of policy intended to make high school courses a foundation upon which to build American citizenship.

The meeting will be a phase of the state-wide organization in high school curricula calculated to develop and expand a new policy decided upon by state educational authorities and will be attended by a majority of the educators in this section of the Monongahela valley and surrounding districts.

Dr. Lewis has authority to discuss the new policy from the angle of the State Board of Public Instruction, to gather data from the views, suggestions and to make recommendations and put into effect such changes as the state has resolved are best to bear fruit in the new campaign.

Only about 20 percent of the high school graduates it is said, move into the universities and colleges. The 80 percent immediately take their places in American life. The high schools have been inspected from time to time by the state high school inspector. Those placed in the first class are enrolled on the accredited list. Graduates from them are admitted without preliminary examination to practically all the colleges and universities in Pennsylvania.

The open door of the universities and colleges, has, it is pointed out, paved the way for preference in high school courses which fit for entrance into higher educational institutions, rather than for the broader and immediate assumption of the duties of citizenship.

At the meeting a radical readjustment of high school courses will be considered to include special emphasis on social science, history, civics and other problems of democracy. This will mean practical study as founded on experience, not so much memorizing of the Constitution of the United States and the division of government, but more and more attention to the elements which bring about better living conditions, sounder philosophy in the absorption of American ideals, and better obedience to the law.

It is expected that many teachers and principals will attend this meeting, probably the most important in educational circles in many years.

Find Mummified Cat Under Barroom Floor

The remains of a mummified cat were found under the floor of the barroom of the Wilbur Hotel on Wednesday afternoon, by Henry Acker, who for a time, years ago, was a bartender at the hotel. The remains were found under the floor where the refrigerator plant stood, and it is presumed the cat had crawled through a small aperture in the brick wall and had been unable to get out of its predicament, slowly starved to death. Being in a cool place, the remains gradually dried up. The cat was a white cat, and was found in a room which had been used for a time as a bar. JUDGMENT GIVEN FOR DEFENDANT

In the suit of James Small, et ux, against the Macbeth-Evans Glass company, the court has directed that judgment be entered for the defendant. The suit was a claim for damages for the death of the plaintiff's son, who was drowned while swimming in the reservoir of the company's plant in Charlevoi, Pa. The court held that the plaintiff's claim should have been made under the workman's compensation act.

TO RESUME WORK ON THE BELL FARM

After several years of inactivity, pending the extension of the railroad line from Marianna to Hackney, it is announced that operations preparatory to mining coal on the Bell farm, in Amwell township, are being resumed. A few years ago the Pittsburg Westmoreland Coal company cut down a shaft and made other preparations for mining coal there, with the almost positive assurance that a branch railroad was to be at once constructed up North Ten Mile.

TRANSPLANTED CANNIBALISM

The testimony taken by our naval court of inquiry in Hayti shows that cannibalism is still practiced among the blacks of that island, and that there have been instances of brutal killings and mutilations of the bodies of American Marines. The testimony is even said to show that the cannibals of Hayti believe that eating the heart of a white man will give them wisdom and that eating his liver will endow them with courage. The testimony does not indicate the extent of the evil but only that it certainly exists. Cannibalism was not found among the original Indians of the West Indies. It was brought there from Africa, just as voodooism—the negro form of witchcraft—was imported into Louisiana. We are apt to forget that the white man's greed of gain carried the African jungle to the West Indies, and that Hayti and San Domingo are peopled by transplanted negroes instead of their aboriginal inhabitants, these latter having been mostly killed off in the beginning.

Hundreds of thousands of negro slaves were imported from West Africa and when these had multiplied they drove their relatively few white masters, European planters, out of the country. Unfortunately the expulsion of the whites occurred before the blacks had attained to any degree of civilization. This accounts for the long turbulent and bloody history of the island and for the fact that voodooism and cannibalism are still found in Hayti. It may sound startling to some ears, but it is nevertheless true that if the Haytian and San Domingo blacks had remained in the industrial school of slavery under the white man as long as did their cousins in the United States they would today be farther advanced in civilization than they are.

CHANGE FOR BETTER.

The monthly business review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, in its February issue, in speaking of the present business depression, says: "The turn of the year has witnessed a decided change in business sentiment. Reports reaching us this month are almost a unit in declaring that signs point to improvement in the business situation. Some of the more optimistic profess to see a distinct revival in the immediate future, while others, somewhat less enthusiastic, agree that the outlook is much more hopeful."

"Whatever the future may hold for us, we must recognize the force of the old adage, that it is 'useless to cry over spilled milk.' The present situation has been brought about by the working of inexorable natural laws, and our time should now be spent in planning for the future rather than in trying to find some one whom we may attach the blame for what has happened in the past."

"An analysis of the situation will show that conditions are not as bad as many would have them to appear. The dire prediction of the calamity howlers have not been borne out. Business has slackened somewhat, but when it renews activity it will be upon a more sound and stable basis."

and offer a much better hope for a more lasting prosperity."

FIXING RESPONSIBILITY

It is altogether likely that on account of the rush of work in the present short session of Congress, and the certainty that the President will veto any kind of a protective tariff bill, the Senate may not pass the emergency bill now before it. In that event, responsibility for the present situation rests squarely upon the party that enacted the present law—the Democratic party. When the Wilson-Underwood bill was pending in Congress seven years ago, the Republicans predicted the results which have been experienced. The Democrats insisted upon passing the bill, and a slump came, checked, however, by the war trade which began in the latter part of 1914. After five years of war protection the charnels of trade were again opened, and the American produced began to feel the destructive competition of foreign commodities—the farmer being the first to suffer. Let no man overlook the fact that the trouble is due to the Wilson-Underwood tariff law, and to the deflation methods of the Democratic Federal Reserve Board.

Guests having been there, the children were up later than usual and ungladly excited. Auntie couldn't make them go to sleep; she had heard their prayers, told them stories, and they were wider awake than ever. "The first one of you to go to sleep shall have an orange," he finally said. Dand silence followed. Presently Totter called: "Auntie, give me my orange; I'm the first one asleep. Me deest woke up again."

Always Unpopular Number.

Whether unlucky or not, number 13 is thoroughly unpopular. It is 13 str down to a meal, the first to rise will die within a year, says superstition. The person born on the thirteenth of the month will be unlucky throughout life, no one should embark on a journey or start an enterprise on the thirteenth of the month, while the thirteenth house in a row is nearly always tenantless, or renumbered 11A or 15.

Virtue of Cold Water.

We have read that if a man on the wrong side of fifty, getting out of cold water, finds his bathroom looking-glass fogged, he may continue his practice safely, knowing that it is beneficial; that there are some who when the water is only a little above freezing point find it necessary to towel only their head and their feet, natural evaporation doing the rest."

SOAP AND SOCKS IN SUMATRA

Wearing of Hosiery is an Indication That the Wearer Earns at Least $20 a Month.

Soap and socks in Sumatra—ten years ago the observant mind of a representative of the United States in that island would have devoted less thought to such matters, but now the internationalization of commerce gives soap and socks in Sumatra their place in the sun. The natives, it appears from a recent consular report, are more and more taking to wearing socks. Those simple garments of extremities, one judges, are becoming an indication that the wearer earns at least $20 a month. American socks are well thought of, as are American soaps, but more socks and soaps from America can be sold in Sumatra if the American dealers in these commodities will give more thought to local taste in decorating the boxes or wrappers in which they go on sale in the bazaars. These buyers in Sumatra, like their soaps and socks done up in bright colored containers; in fact, they are inclined to judge the contents by the beauty, from their point of view, of the box. The picture of an American manufacturing plant leaves them cold, nor do they care for a wrapper decorated with landscape in colors. Particularly in the matter of hosiery, they like the box decorated with some brightly colored picture which catches the eye and appeals to the imagination by its "human interest." One judges that it would be good policy for American dealers in soaps and socks to discard their present containers and employ some of the artists who make covers for the popular magazines to design and paint them new ones particularly for the Sumatra market.—Christian Science Monitor.

ODDITIES OF GERMAN VOTE

The total number of valid votes cast at the recent election in Germany for the 446 members of the Reichstag was 26,017,590. The votes that had to be thrown out ran into the thousands. One woman wrote on her ballot: "I am voting for you majority socialists this time, but unless I can get Westphalian ham that is made in Westphalia from now on I'll never do it again." Quite a few votes were cast for the Kaiser on the ground that "if elected the humiliation would serve him right." One man from Magdeburg deposited instead of his ballot a five-mark note without comment.

But the prize ballot came from Linden. It was a piece of wrapping paper, on which was written "Isaiah 12, 23-24." The verses read: "Show the things that are to come hereafter that we may know that ye are gods; yea, do good or do evil, that we may be dismayed and behold it together. Behold, ye are of nothing and your work of naught; an abomination is he that chooseth you."

The Circus.

The clowns disport themselves as of yore. The band plays its tuneful music. Acrobats swing high on shining trapezes. The elephants go through their ponderous moves. The seals flap their way to children's hearts. All is the same as twenty years ago—the circus does not change.

But with the passing of the years, the effect has changed. The trappings seem less bright. Their tawdry tinsel no longer seems pure gold. The quaintness of exotic cloaks no longer transports the mind to faraway lands. The acrobats seem much the same as those the daily stage brings us. The elephants, for all their heavy training, seem but commonplace. Even the clowns seem less funny than in days gone by. Time has passed, indeed.

The circus does not change. But we, feeling the heavy hand of passing time, have changed. No longer do we feel as children. Through the glamor, we see the sadness. Forsooth, since our childhood days, we have progressed.—Milwaukee Journal.

When waters charged with carbonate of calcium derived from limestone are evaporated their deposit masses of the carbonate, some of which are of great beauty. This process can be observed at many warm and "petrifying" springs and also in limestone caverns where stalactites and stalagmites are being formed, according to the United States geological survey. Mexican "onyx" is formed in this way. Its variations in color and texture, which make it attractive and valuable as an ornament, are commonly produced by "imperfections or inclusions, such as oxide of iron, or even mud and clay."

Why Spoil a Suit?

"Here's a ladder against this building. I'll bet you a dinner you won't walk under it."

"I won't take your bet."

"Ha! Superstition?"

"No, horse sense. There's a man at the top of that ladder with a bucket of paint in his hand."—Birmingham Age Herald.

Safer Than Rifles and Powder. Among the items purchased by the Mexican government for Francisco Villa and his followers are 800 plows, harness for 1,600 mules, 2 tractors, 20 moving machines, 2 thrashing machines, 40 scrapers, 2 long auto trucks, an auto, corrugated iron for roofing and 2 large warehouses.

THEY ALL WERE AMERICANS

Where were the foreigners? I wondered as I looked at the faces in the streets upon my return from Europe. The French, who had heard much of our polyglotry, asked this question when they saw our soldiers marching along the roads of France. In French eyes the men were all of the type American. Yet they included foreign born, as well as sons of every race in Europe, Frederick Palmer writes in Harper's.

Are you Americans? their adopted country asked of them in those trying days. They gave their answer in sacrifice at home and in battle, often fighting against an enemy of their own blood. Zolinski, Einstens, Schmidts, Bertellis, Katsanjans won the Distinguished Service Cross, thrilling our pride with a new sense of nationalism. Had they now reverted to loyalty to the lands of their origin? If so, what had wrought the change in their hearts?

To my fresh view all the people were distinctively Americans in garb and taste; in their complexion, which our climate so promptly affects; in their brusque and frank civility, their intensity, their pleasures, and their restless motion. Later, as I became settled at home and more discerning, I might note that this or that person was of Swedish, Italian, Hungarian or Slav stock. Then I would see through the veneer, as I was told. But aren't most of us—again, not a new idea—who are "off the reservation," of foreign stock? My people missed the Mayflower and came over in 1636. I could not discern that the descendants of the Pilgrims were more American than I was or than a dark eyed telephone girl whose father was an Italian immigrant.

Not even in the mean streets did I find patches. I saw no shriveling babies, in emaciated mothers' arms on bread lines in the European sense, though conditions were bad enough from the point of view of desired standards which must ever call our ambition away from stagnation of "everything is for the best in the best of worlds." In place of saloons in mean streets and average streets, new stores and restaurants had appeared. How clean the restaurants were compared to those of the same class in Europe? How wholesome was their atmosphere?

WAR ON DISEASE WORLD WAR

Health Problems of the Remotest Land is the Concern of All Peoples.

The war against disease is a world war. Commerce carries dangerous infections, as well as goods and ideas. The health problems of the remotest land concern all peoples. More and more, nations are coming to recognize their interdependence in health as in industry, government, science, and culture. There are even now foreshadowings of world-wide co-operation in combating the maladies which have long threatened humanity. For this new campaign leaders are needed to extend the frontiers of medical science, to teach, to organize, to administer. Demonstrations are required to convince communities and nations that diseases can be controlled and even eradicated. The Rockefeller Foundation, enlisted for this world-wide campaign against disease, is co-operating with many agencies in five continents, is fostering the growth of international confidence and good will, and is seeking the fulfillment of its chartered purpose—"to promote the well-being of mankind throughout the world."

Fuel Oil for Railroads.

The great scarcity of coal has caused the Paris, Lyons, and Mediterranean Railway company to transform some of its motive power from coal to fuel oil consumption, which is about to be followed by the Chemin de Fer de l'Elat, or state-owned railway, and engines at its shops at Saintes are now undergoing changes for experimental purposes. Much attention is being directed to the announcement that the first-named railway company is planning to equip 200 locomotives for fuel oil and install numerous storage reservoirs of from 40 to 100 tons' capacity at various points on its lines.—Scientific American.

The 110,000,000 cards needed to record the population of the United States in the new census made a stack more than ten miles high. Without machinery it would be almost impossible to manage a census nowadays. It took seven years to complete and publish the census of 1890, and nine years to complete the census of 1880. By means of electrical mechanism which punches something like 4,000,000 cards a day, the cards are now sorted and tabulated in weeks instead of years. The device also saves expense and eliminates error.

Forewarned.

A little girl was sent to fetch some milk from a neighbor. She took with her two cans.

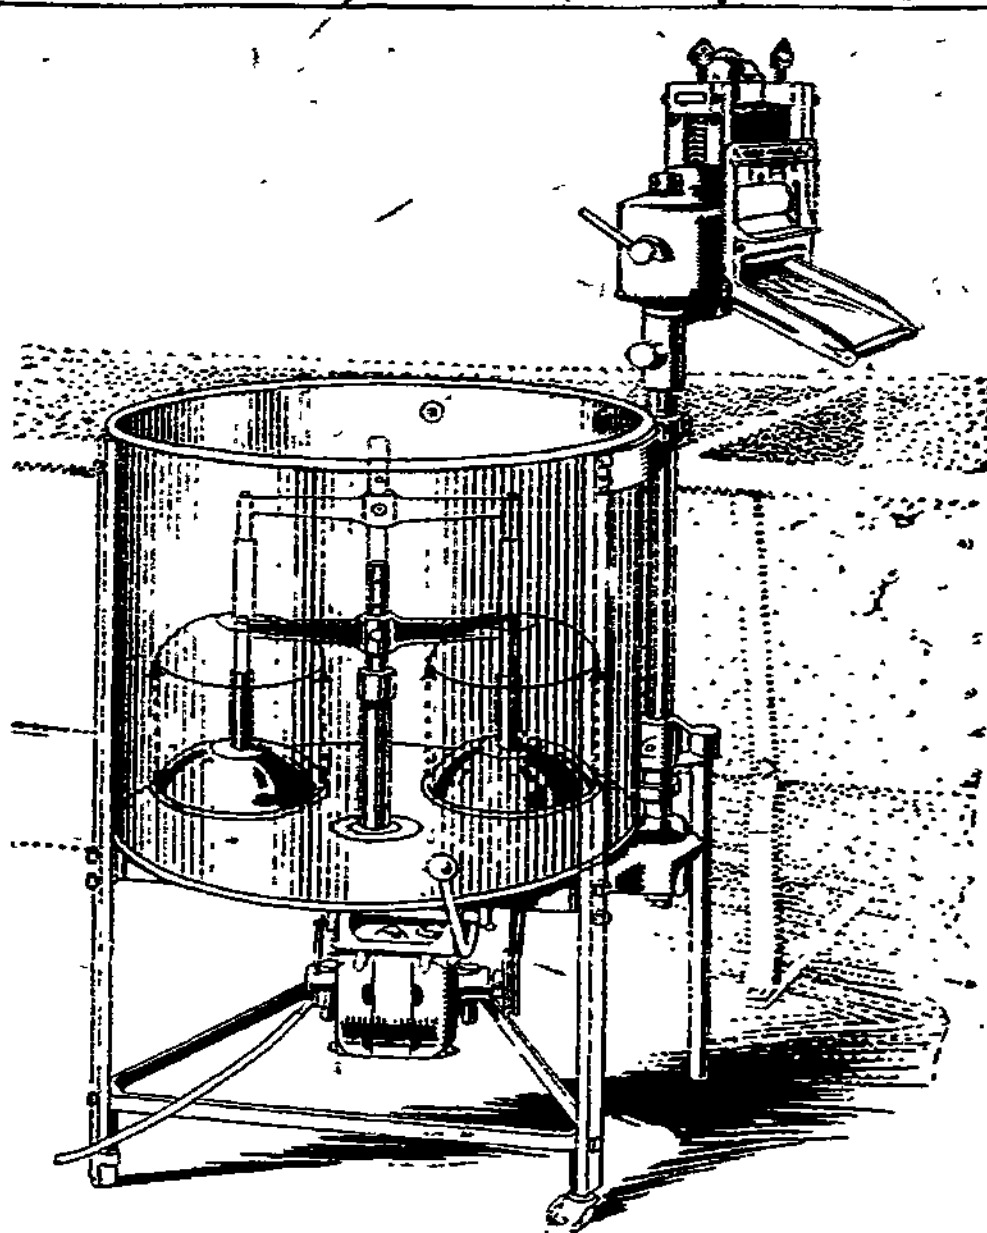

On arriving home she was crying and bespattered with mud.

Mother saw at once that her darling had had a fall and asked if she had lost all the milk.

"No, mother, not a drop."

"And how did my clever little darling manage that?" mother asked.

"I knew I was going to fall, mother, so I stood the cans down."—Answers, London.

CONNELLVILLE COUNCIL MAY DRAW AGE LINE

When the council of Connellville draws its ordinance against "shady" dances and open pool rooms they will be obliged to consider an additional clause, this one providing for the drawing of an age line. Council, according to information, proposes that no girl under 17 years of age shall be permitted to attend public dances and that no young man under 18 will be allowed to frequent pool rooms. Despite the fact that the ordinance has not yet been drawn, police officers are already enforcing both statutes, having been instructed to do so by the chief of police.

TO OPEN LARGEST MINE IN UNITED STATES

The New England and Fuel Transportation company has completed plans and specifications for opening what it is said will be the largest coal mine in the United States near Fairmont, W. Va. A modern mining town of six hundred houses will be built near the plant.

CARE VIOLIN TO BE PLAYED AT OLD FIDDLER'S CONTEST

A Charlevoix contestant in the old Fiddlers' contest at Mable's auditorium on Friday night has one of the most unique violins in the country. This violin is owned, and was made by Charles Athey of McKean avenue and the old saying that "a thing of beauty is a joy forever" seems fittingly appropriate for this instrument. The violin contains over 500 separate pieces of wood which more than are used in the construction of thirteen ordinary violins. Careful selection of the wood together with the skillful shaping of the sounding board has made it an instrument of rare tone and although Mr. Athey has made other instruments, he values this one as the cream of his lot. The instrument will be played by Mr. Athey, who has entered the contest along with several other violins from Charlevoix. The contest manager is now in communication with Mr. Cowley from near Washington, who also has a violin with a history. His violin bears the date of 1705 which makes this instrument over 200 years old. It is understood that Mr. Cowley will not be in the contest but it is quite probable that he will exhibit the instrument and spectators will have the opportunity of hearing it. Among the violins that will be played will be some of Fritz Kreisler's favorites, "Sonata," "Humoresque," "Traumens" and "My Rosary," one of the most beautiful violin selections. The doors will be open at 7 o'clock and all are advised to come early as the dance must start at 8 o'clock sharp in order to carry out the entire program. An old time jig, such as the "Way down East" troupe carries will add zest to the program which will be full of enjoyment for all. 204-t1

WOMEN "JURY" SOBER IN FAYETTE CITY

Bitter complaints by the dozens are being registered by citizens of Fayette City with the officials of that borough regarding the sale of liquor and Jamaica ginger there and in Belle Vernon, according to information coming from that community.

"The situation occasioned by the sale of ginger in Fayette City is unbearable," one citizen complained in a letter to officials. Another said it was "high time" that Federal agents devote a little time to the sale of liquor and ginger in Fayette City and Belle Vernon, describing conditions as "far worse" than elsewhere in all Fayette county.

As Fayette City has but one policeman one citizen suggests that it is "hardly his duty" to run down the liquor vendors. County authorities will be appealed to unless Federal agents give the local situation their immediate attention, citizens claim.

DISCRIMINATION IS DENIED BY RAILROAD

Denial of the truth of a report alleged to have been circulated by employees of the Pennsylvania railroad, which it is said, warned employees of the company that the management proposed to reduce the wages of those not belonging to a labor organization, was made in a statement issued by W. W. Atterbury, vice president in charge of operation, through the Pittsburgh office. The statement pointed out that the present position rate of pay, or seniority rights of any employee did not depend on membership or non-membership in any organization.

HONORA CIRCLE ENTERTAINS CHARLEVOIX

Honora Circle, of the Protected Home Circle, entertained the members of the Charlevoix Circle, 303, at Donora last evening. The meeting opened with a drill by the ladies of Charlevoix, who are to be complimented on their good work. Business matters for the good of the order were discussed after which a class was initiated. Short addresses were made by the officers and several members. After the business meeting a social hour was spent which all enjoyed.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR BRIDE AND GROOM

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Frank Livingston, of Charlevoix, at the home of the bride's mother Mrs. Jas. Scowthorn, Vesta, Wednesday evening. A large number of guests were present. The bride and groom were the recipients of many useful and handsome presents. The festivities of the evening were enlivened by the "Peppercorn" orchestra from California, which played a variety of popular tunes.

LAW WOULD OPOSE WOOD DESTRUCTION

A bill has been introduced in the House at Harrisburg by Representative Frank D. Brown of Berks county which would make it unlawful to destroy or remove bridges, buildings, railroad ties, or timber used for such purposes, or by any other method, unless to save or by another purpose. The bill provides that such property shall be placed at the disposal of the public or sold or given to any individual or company for fuel or other useful purposes.

TRAIN DELAYED BY DISABLED ENGINE

Passenger train 7842, southbound, due at the local station at 7:08 p.m., was delayed one hour Wednesday because the engine blew out a cylinder head at West Elizabeth. Before the train could proceed it was necessary to send another engine from the Elrama yards to bring the disabled engine to the shops, after which the train proceeded on its run.

MAY 'FOGATE STATE' POLICE AT BROWNVILLE

Brownville, in all probability, will be selected as the site for a detachment of the Pennsylvania State Police, according to reliable information. In the event of the location of a detail at that point every part of Fayette county will have been provided adequate police protection, authorities admit. If the detail is placed at Brownville, it will cover the Brownville, Fayette City section.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO GOVERNOR BEAVER

An appropriation of $200,000 to Washington and Jefferson College for erecting a memorial to James A. Beaver, an alumnus of the institution and late Governor of Pennsylvania, is provided in a bill introduced in the House at Harrisburg by Representative W. H. Smith of Allegheny county.

SO WEAK SO NERVOUS

How Miserable This Woman Was
Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toomsboro, Ga.—"I suffered terribly with backache and headache all the time, was so weak and nervous I didn't know what to do, and could not do my work. My trouble was deficient and irregular periods. I read in the papers what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to give it a trial. I got good results from its use so that I am now able to do my work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to mine and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. C. F. PHILLIPS, Toomsboro, Ga.

Weak, nervous women make unhappy homes, their condition irritates both husband and children. It has been said that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," irritability and backache arise from some displacement or derangement of a woman's system. Mrs. Phillips' letter clearly shows that no other remedy is so successful in overcoming this condition as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The Secret of Nerve Force

Why can some people work twenty hours out of every twenty-four and always appear fresh and vigorous while others are weak and tired after only a few hours of mental and physical effort? It is nearly all due to the condition of your ductless glands, say scientists. These glands furnish a substance used in the building up process of the millions of cells of the body much as a storage battery supplying power to a motor. When these glands are healthy we are vigorous, alert and have calm nerves, but when they fail to function we become pale, anemic, run down and our nerves are on edge.

Glandex Compound is being used by thousands to recharge these important glands by supplying the needed material which is obtained from the glands of vigorous young animals to which is added a special form of iron.

CAN'T RUSH TO SAGHALIEN

Japanese Government Bars All but Business Firms Approved by War Office.

There will be no rush of adventurers to the new fields for exploitation opened up by the Japanese occupation of Russian Saghalien, according to Mr. Murakami, chief of the fishery bureau of the department of agriculture and commerce, who is quoted in the Yomiuri.

"None except those who really mean business and are in a position to seriously transact business will find any place for them in Saghalien," said Mr. Murakami. "All rights there are in the hands of the military command, and anyone that wants to go there, now must obtain a permit from the war office. Certainly the forests there will yield plenty of wood pulp and other raw material, while there are rich coal mines and possibly oil wells. But the chief product of that region is the output of the fisheries."

Speaking of the fishing rights in Saghalien, Mr. Murakami said that after consultation with the army command an auction was conducted at Nikolai for those rights over which the army command is able to furnish protection. No detailed report of the auction has been received. The bidders had to file their applications with a deposit to guarantee their good faith, and they had to be persons who were qualified by long experience in fisheries in that neighborhood.

The Yomiuri says that many reputable business establishments have been holding back from enterprises in Saghalien for fear of the competition of adventurers and the hurt their reputations might suffer in a mad scramble for rights and concessions.—Japan Advertiser.

HOLDING CHEMICAL TRADE

Statistics Show That United States Has Been Able to Hold High Mark Set During War.

Official statistics for the fiscal year 1920 demonstrate that this country has been able to keep its trade in chemical and allied products very near the high mark set during the war, despite the loss of markets for purely raw supplies and despite the pressing demands that must be met in the domestic market.

Such is the conclusion reached by O. P. Hopkins, a well-known statistician, writing in the Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

"In almost all lines except munitions," he writes, "the exports in 1920 exceeded in value those of 1918, a fact that can be explained in some cases, perhaps, by rising prices, but which nevertheless warrants the assertion that the position has not been weakened. These exports, which very greatly exceed those of the last normal pre-war year are made up almost entirely of manufactured products. Imports have more than held their own and comprise raw and partly manufactured products required for further advancement by American chemical manufacturers."

Sea Lion Leather.

Large numbers of sea lions on the British Columbia coast which destroy annually vast quantities of fish food may be slaughtered and their hides placed on the world's leather market, if a proposition which comes from Premier Oliver and has the approval of many experienced fishermen, is carried out. The sea lion weighs from 2,000 to 2,500 pounds, the hides being nearly an inch thick. These hides make a tough and durable rough leather such as is used in workmen's gloves and in saddles. It is stated that these animals will eat 50 pounds of fish in a day. Four hunters recently killed several hundred sea lions in one day in Charlotte Islands.—Scientific American.

"Lotus Eaters."

Few flowers have been more identified with the world's history than the mysterious lotus of Egypt. The phrase "lotus eaters" is a common one in literature, and is used to describe those who live in a dream world. The food made from the dried seeds of the Egyptian variety seems to have had an effect similar to various opium products, and once in the clutch of the drug the lotus eaters forgot both past and family, and went mooning about, oblivious of demands made by society, kin, or even their own physical wants.

A diver was sent down recently at New York to locate a case of machinery that had fallen into the river. As soon as he reached the bottom he signalled that he wished to come up. When his helmet was removed, the first thing he said was, "What's the number of the case?" There were so many cases at the bottom of the river that he didn't know which one belonged to his employers. The amount of cargo that is lost in loading and unloading ships is enormous.—Popular Science Monthly.

Mosquitoes Dislike Swamps.

Recent experiments prove that, contrary to the general belief, mosquitoes do not thrive and multiply in foul, stagnant water. In fact, mosquito larvae actually lose vigor and die when surrounded by decomposed vegetation. Whether this is due to bacterial action on the larvae or to an excess of injurious gas due to the decomposition has not been ascertained. At any rate, swamps are not guilty of encouraging mosquitoes, and cleaning these swamps does harm.—Popular Science Monthly.

Strangers in Language.

All men are strangers. There are no two men on earth who speak the same language. Each places his own individual meaning in his words. With the self-same words men talk of quite different things. And I cannot be certain how my words will be interpreted by him to whom they are addressed. That is the reason all aged people talk to themselves; it is the habit of a lifetime. Experience—Mabel Johnson Leland's Translation of Arne Garborg's "The Last Father."

Numbering Spool Cotton.

The number of cotton thread is based on the size of the yarn from which the thread is twisted. The finished thread was originally all three-ply and carried the yarn size—that is to say, three strands of size 50 yarn were twisted together and called No. 50 thread. When six-ply or six-cord came into use it was decided not to change the numbering of the thread, but to use six strands of yarn size 100 to make the No. 50 thread.

Education in Ireland.

The national system of education was introduced into Ireland in 1831 to take the place of the Society for the Education of the Poor. Prior to the establishment of the national system the schools had been conducted by the churches as non-pay schools, or were conducted by charitable societies, with the help of grants from the government.

Keep Extra Supply.

A reserve supply of little things necessary around the house will save many an annoying moment. With this fact in mind, don't buy just one paper of pins, a package of hairpins a hair net, five stamps, a small supply of letter paper. Lay in a regular stock of these things and of all such little articles, the lack of which causes so much lost time.

Cause of Vertigo in the Ears.

Vertigo, which is quite common, is caused by a derangement of a number of different organs including the heart, stomach, kidneys, eyes or brain, and it has been recently determined that many cases are owing to ear troubles.

What Dreams Mean.

To dream of cards denotes great wealth; hearts, riches and honor; diamonds signifies you will quarrel with your lover; clubs, happiness and money; spades, you will meet with many hardships.—Chicago American.

King Had Faith in Women.

The famous Emperor Charles V, who was accounted one of the ablest rulers of his time, had such confidence in the ability of women to govern that he appointed three successively as regents of the Netherlands.

Spirit of Service Needed.

To no one man is it given to do it all. Each has his part, and, if he do it well, does all that can be expected of him. But he will never do it well if he be not possessed of and dominated by the spirit of service.

Otherwise All Right.

Advice.

If thou wouldst be justified, acknowledge thine injustice. He that confesses his sin begins his journey toward salvation. He that is sorry for it, mends his pace. He that forsakes it, is at his journey's end.—Quarles.

Jud Tunkins.

Jud Tunkins says he doesn't believe there is any lion or tiger or other wild animal as dangerous to human life as a young woman who is showing off to a rich uncle how fast she can run her new automobile.

Holidays.

If all the year were playing holidays, to sport would be as tedious as to work; but when they seldom come, they wished for come, and nothing pleaseth but rare accidents.—Shakespeare.

There is only one way to get ready for immortality, and that is to love this life, and live it as bravely and faithfully and cheerfully as we can.

Henry Van Dyke.

Living Sea Microphone.

The office on the whale's ear is scarcely perceptible, yet it is said that the whale's hearing is so acute that a ship crossing its track half a mile distant will cause it to dive instantly.

Busy With the Flivver.

What has become of the old-fashioned family that used to reach the conclusion that it would have to economize?—Detroit News.

Difference in Belief.

Women believe that all women are alike, and all men different. Men believe that all men are alike, and all women different.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

OUR BIRTH RATE IS NORMAL

Census Bureau Statistics Show That Births Exceed Deaths by About One-Third.

The census bureau, on the strength of registered returns, gives figures to show that the birth rate in the United States exceeds the death rate by one-third, which is a gratifying fact. We are not one of the nations that need be anxious on this vital point as far as present conditions are concerned. One of the most serious troubles in France is the warning in its censuses that in some years more of its inhabitants die than are born. Some of its neighbors grow much faster in population. This disparity was somewhat noticed in the past, yet without fully realizing the terrible menace involved. The desolated towns and farms of France are a monument to the old census admonitions and the awful sacrifice of young French manhood is far more dreadful than the devastation. Often have the public men of France sounded an alarm on the defective birth rate. It is much discussed now by thoughtful French legislators and writers. A census always demands intelligent study.

The United States grows by immigration as well as births, and our school system tends to Americanize the whole body of citizens. Our schools are a great melting pot for Americans of the future and to increase their proportionate number.

The welfare of children is a great national issue. The birth rate and death rate need continuous attention.

ALL WANT TO LIVE IN PARIS

So Many Foreigners Are There That the Frenchman Is Being Crowded.

The New York Evening Post's Paris correspondent says that in an article in Excelsior a French writer contends that while Paris before the war was the meeting place of all nationalities, it has now become their permanent abode, so that the Parisians are crowded out into the suburbs or unable to find an apartment in the city.

The writer says that if you take a census of the average apartment you will find that it contains "Belgians who left when the Germans came, Russians driven out by bolshevism, French families from the devastated regions who seem to like it where they are, American students with their omnipotent dollars, Englishmen trying to do business and representatives of the Balkan states, Poland, Turkey and other distressed and unsettled regions who are living on the Lord only knows what. Paris is proud of her cosmopolitanism, but is finding it inconvenient when the peoples of the world show so little inclination to move."

Cardinal's Hat Symbol of Office.

The peculiarity of the cardinal's hat is that it is not to be worn. On one occasion only is it to be seen on the head of the cardinal, and that is when the pope himself places it there as a symbol of its owner's elevation to the Sacred college. When the cardinal dies it is placed in his coffin. The hat is of a deeper red than that of the robe worn by the cardinal. It has long heavy silken cords, each with 15 tassels at the end, hanging on either side. The crimson robes which, like the hat, denote the cardinal's office, are made of cloth which for several generations past has been supplied by a firm of cloth merchants at Aachen, near Aix-la-Chapelle. The process by which the dye is distilled is a jealously guarded secret.

Trade With Australia Grows.

Trading between this country and Australia is showing a healthy growth, according to figures supplied to the department of commerce by A. W. Fern, trade commissioner, who is at Melbourne. They cover imports and exports for the first quarter of the current year, and show the imports during that period to have been about $27,775,000, against exports to this country of approximately $16,850,000. February exports nearly equaled in value the totals for January and March, and in that month the outgoing shipments exceeded the imports. In the same month, however, the value of the imports was less than half of the goods brought in during March.

On Dolly's birthday she was presented with a baby bulldog, and her delight was delicious to behold.

It was very young, and she insisted upon taking it to bed with her, but the next morning she was looking very tired.

"Haven't you slept well, darling?" asked her mother.

"No, mummy," said Dolly. "Nelson was crying in the night for his nannies, so I kept awake with him for company, and I made awful faces all night to make him sink I was his bulldog mummy to comfort him!"—Answers, London.

Aerial Taxicabs in Canada.

Seventeen aerial taxicab companies are being formed in western Canada, and a number of these already have been licensed by the air board. Four commercial flying companies have been formed at Winnipeg, and there are companies at Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Hanna (Alberta), Calgary, Lethbridge, and in Vancouver. Aerodromes are to be built at Virden and Vancouver. Passenger flying is the first object of these companies, and mail carrying and distribution for large shops are expected to follow.
